Marty Wise wins 1st prize in unusual Leprechaun contest

The "Little People" swarmed over the Valley last weekend, with hundreds of children participating in a costume contest and coloring contest sponsored by the Carmel Valley Outlook and the Mid-Valley Shopping Center.

Winners of the top prizes, free admission to the Valley Cinema for one year, were Marty Wise, whose Leprechaun costume took first place, and Lynn Zanetta, whose coloring contest entry was judged best by a panel of judges.

Both contests were held in conjunction with the showing of Walt Disney's "Darby O'Gill and the Little People" at the Valley Cinema.

Second place in the costume contest was awarded to Donna Williams, who took home a Sony Transistor Radio. Mark McCurry's bearded costume impressed the judges who awarded him third prize, a psychedelic "pop art" clock.

Second place winner in the Coloring Contest was Rick Hentges; his prize is a Kodak Instamatic Camera Outfit. Third prize winner, recipient of a Cinderella Watch, was Diane Berthoin.

Fourth prize winners, who will receive handbags (girls) or Monogram Space Missile Model Kits, were Jeff Parker, Tony Rowedder, Kent Swanson, Kim Thigpen, Sharon Hentges, Jill Lee and Mara Batlin.

Honorable Mention in the Coloring, good for a free admission to the Valley Cinema, has been awarded to Tony Spear, Brenda Clough, Alexander Blevens, Kathy Sanders, Gay Halley, Ashley Swanson, Warren Heavside, Aristede Lallas, Gretchen Vanderveen and Sharon Mello.

Winners are asked to claim their prizes at Steinmetz Pharmacy, in Mid-Valley Center, on Carmel Valley Rd. at Berwick Drive.

Every entrant in the coloring contest will be awarded a free gift, as announced earlier. The children can pick up their gifts at Steinmetz Pharmacy any time on or before December 1st, after identifying themselves.

THE TOWN CRIER

THE THIEF who robbed the Grapevine Liquor Store in Carmel Valley a week ago Sunday has two strikes against him. Even a burglar could have taken into consideration that enough tragedy had occurred in the McKenzie family for one week. Don McKenzie, owner of the Grapevine, died suddenly at the football game on the Friday night before the robbery. And his funeral services were pending.

The robbery occurred on Sunday, during business hours. Two sacks of cash and checks were taken. Bookkeeper Roberta Johnston found the bags missing, when she went to the back-room for change late Sunday. One bag contained $300 in cash. The other one held $857.47 in checks.

PARENTS OF PRESCHOOL and primary children are being urged to encourage their children to view a new television program. Dr. Harris A. Taylor, superintendent, Carmel Unified School District, has called attention to SESAME STREET, a television series just introduced on Channel Nine, KQED.

SESAME STREET provides an opportunity for young children to learn such basics as the alphabet, numbers, time and space concepts, and problem-solving skills. It is being broadcast on KQED daily, Monday through Friday, from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

CARMEL VALLEY OPTOMETRIST Dr. Robert Marlin has returned from the Scope - Fall '69 Vision Care Seminar in San Francisco sponsored by the California Optometric Association. Dr. Marlin was one of over 500 optometrists who attended the two-day post-graduate seminar. Vision care experts conducted post-graduate courses on ocular pathology, low vision, strabismus diagnosis, special tests, practice management, and a special program for optometric assistants during the two-day seminar.

THURSDAY is the day set aside to feast and give thanks for the good things that have come to us in the past year. Originally, harvest festivals were celebrated to thank God for successful crops.

In 1621, the Plymouth colonists observed the first American Thanksgiving with rejoicing over the corn harvest. (They'd almost starved the year before.) Turkey and pumpkin were included in the feast, then as now.

The custom spread throughout the New England colonies. Even though President George Washington issued a proclamation on November 26, 1789, it was 74 more years before an official Thanksgiving Day was set aside. President Abraham Lincoln, in 1863, proclaimed the last Thursday of November "as a day of thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father."

After 75 years, President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued a proclamation that Thanksgiving be celebrated on the fourth Thursday of November. Two years later, in 1941, Congress ruled it a legal holiday.

This year, Thanksgiving is both the fourth and last Thursday of the month. Let us enjoy our families at this special time and give thanks for many things which we enjoy in our affluent country.

WE ARE NOW moved into our new plant at Mid-Valley Shopping Center. Florence Galloway is in charge of the Village office. Everyone's been most kind and we appreciate their good wishes. After the holidays, when we're more settled, there will be an Open House...

ANOTHER THING we're happy about is that George T.C. Smith is out with his camera again. Home from the hospital only a week, he's back to the usual routine. And the removal of those cataracts from his eyes will help, I'm sure.

UP AT THE Tantomount Theatre until the end of the month is a beautiful photographic display of work done by STONE, POST & FLOWER. Why not go see "King Kong" Friday or Saturday night, and take time at intermission (with free coffee) to look at the display.

RECENTLY, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Norton gave a party at Rippling River Resort for old employees of the OUTLOOK. The party included dinner, and everyone enjoyed getting together with the previous editors of our newspaper.

LAST WEDNESDAY NIGHT, at 10:30, we got quite a jolt. No damage in the area, however, and the KIDD announcer called the earthquake "kinda cute."

That same night, about 25 minutes later, Pete Conrad and Alan Bean made a safe landing on the moon. The Apollo 12 Moon Landing - man's second in a short span of time.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING to everyone from all of us here...

GOOD FENCES MAKE....GOOD DOGS!

Last Sunday, we were driving up toward the Robles del Rio Lodge when we met with a most unpleasant experience. We had a large dog and a small child with us in the car. As we rounded a bend in the road, we were forced almost to a standstill by two boys sitting astride bicycles. With them were two large, black Labrador Retrievers. As soon as they saw the car, both dogs charged. Snapping and snarling, they leaped up at the car. We were forced to stop for fear of running them down, for they kept running around and in front of the car.

Fortunately, it was a chilly afternoon and we had the windows rolled up, for the dog with us was incited to roaring fury by this attack. Had the windows been open, we know he would have jumped out, probably hurting the child sitting next to him, and undoubtedly entering into bloody battle with the two labs. The boys made no attempt to call back the dogs.

At last, we put the car in gear and proceeded steadily, if slowly, up the hill until the dogs quit their attack. The only damage was a few scratches in the paint and plenty of muddy pawprints on the car - but we were lucky.

Sunday's experience was the third time in a week we have been annoyed by car-chasing dogs. Not only are dogs like this a menace to drivers, but they almost always pay for their bad habit with their lives. This week alone, our short travels have taken us past the remains of two luckless dogs on the road here in the Valley.

It is at best difficult to deal with a car-chaser. If he is not broken of his habit as a puppy, the insane delight he gets from his chase makes it almost impossible to stop. However, if you own a dog who chases cars, you are even more in the wrong for letting him run free. Unless you live so far from a road that he cannot possibly see a car, your dog - and every dog - belongs behind a fence.

Any dog who is permitted to run free is no better than a canine tramp. Sooner or later, he is going to get into trouble. Dinny Smith, of the Daisy Dog in Carmel Valley Village, told us of two such incidents. In one, a dog was shot and almost killed by a hunting arrow, fired by an irate farmer who was "just trying to scare the pest away." In another more comical case, Dinny was called upon to bathe a dog who had tried to catch a skunk!

Arrows, bullets, poison, skunks, porcupines, barbed wire, other dogs, automobiles and dogknappers are just a few of the dangers awaiting roaming dogs. Any property owner has the right to shoot a dog who trespasses. And many drivers would just as soon run down a dog in their way as swerve to avoid him!

We wonder, too, how many car-chasers are bicycle chasers? Or horse-chasers? Or cow-chasers? We wonder how many of you who cannot be bothered to keep your dogs at home, safely fenced, can afford the nuisance and expense of a lawsuit because your dog chased a child on a bike or horse and caused an accident. You are fully liable for your dog's actions; the law makes no excuses because it "never happened before."

If you cannot securely fence your entire property, why not build a special run for your dog? A four by eight foot run can be built for far less money than a damage suit - or the cost of a new dog. Prefabricated dog pens of varying sizes and materials can also be purchased through your local pet dealer.

Prevent accidents, dog fights, unwanted puppies, injuries, lawsuits and heartbreak. Keep your dog at home with you, where he belongs - and where he would really much rather be.

2 FIRE CALLS ANSWERED

Contrary to our report last week, Chief "Chip" Collins says the Carmel Valley Fire Department does not consider the fire season officially over until after the first rain. Two fires occurred in the Valley this past week, one of which was started by children playing with matches.

Last Wednesday, two trucks and ten men responded to a call from the new Ballet Studio on Pilot Road. Fortunately for Patsy Wester, who held her Grand Opening on Sunday, the firemen were just around the corner. According to Chief Collins, defective wires serving the hot-water-heater caused the wires to melt and arc. Actually, the service was not connected, but lines from the pole were hot. PG&E was notified and instructed to complete the wiring.

On Saturday, the fire alarm was sounded at 8:46 a.m. Three trucks and 22 men arrived at the airstrip to find approximately 1000 square feet of grass burning on the southwest end. Match covers and loose matches were found at the scene, and children were observed leaving the area as flames rose. The fire was quickly brought under control on the unimproved land, owned by Pierre Del Fino and used for the local landing strip. Two six-year-old boys were identified and brought to the Fire Station for a reprimand by Chief Collins.

The fire at Tularcitos School was also started by a first-grade youngster playing with matches. The Fire Chief had a talk with him.

The new Fire House is almost completed. Hopefully, the quarters will be occupied by Christmastime. Let us all be particularly careful as the holiday season begins to avoid the loss and tragedy of unnecessary fire destruction.

MEDICAL EMERGENCIES

Last Monday, the emergency crew answered a call at 7 Lower Circle in Carmel Valley. Jack Nickolai was treated with inhalation and transferred to the A-1 Ambulance from Salinas at Laureles Grade and Highway 68.

At 2:30 on Thursday afternoon, Michael Baroni of 748 Ellis Street in Monterey, fell off a ladder at the new Fire House and fractured a right upper rib. He was immobilized and treated for shock, before being transported to a local doctor's office.

Saturday, at 7:40 in the evening, firemen received an emergency call from the Texaco Station on Carmel Valley Road. There they found Robert Ray, Paso Cresta in the Valley, suffering from a bruised left shoulder. He sustained the injury while working on a car. The emergency crew transported Mr. Ray to the doctor's office for further treatment.

CARMEL WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS 2 FINE PROGRAMS

There will be two programs of great interest to the members and guests of the Carmel Woman's Club during the coming month. On Monday at 2 p.m. Miss Florence Locke will tell the little-known Christmas story by Charles Dickens called "Six Poor Travelers."

Miss Locke will be remembered as having presented a delightful recital of The Love Poems of Robert and Elizabeth Browning last year. She has for many years been the literary director of the San Francisco Browning Society.

The members of the board of the Carmel Woman's Club will be responsible for the refreshments assisted in serving by Mrs. Eugene Ingalls, Mrs. R.M. Macpherson, Mrs. F.J. Reynolds and Miss Marion Stevens.

The 44th anniversary of the Club will be celebrated by a birthday party on December 5 at 2 p.m. with Mrs. Fred Dorr, Mrs. Russell H. Garetson, Mrs. Clarence Ridley and Mrs. H.M. Wight in charge.

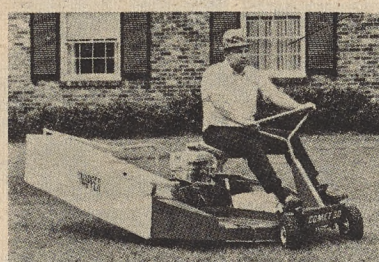

The Carmel High School Girls' Ensemble under the direction of Henry Avila will entertain with Christmas carols. There will be a door prize contributed by Mrs. Wight and donations of $1 will be applied to the Club's furnace fund.

RIDE AND RACE TO OPEN BICENTENNIAL ON DEC. 6

On Saturday, December 6, the rush of cross country runners and the thunder of hundreds of horse hooves will ring in the beginning of Monterey County's Bicentennial year!

Starting at 9:00 in the morning, a group of nearly 150 riders will assemble south of Salinas for a trail ride over Fort Ord onto the beach in Monterey. This expedition will be lead by the Hartnell Horsemen's Association. At the beach they'll be met by the mayors of the Monterey Peninsula cities. A proclamation will be read at the site of a cross raised by the Old Monterey Bicentennial in commemoration of a cross raised there 200 years ago by Captain Portola and Father Crespi. After the brief ceremonies the group will have a meal catered by Hartnell students! The ride is open to everyone. If you want to participate, call the Salinas Bicentennial Office at 424-7611.

While the riders and their mounts are assembling in Salinas, there'll be activity in Monterey as well! The Salinas branch of the Old Monterey Bicentennial is sponsoring a 20-mile foot race -- The Salinas Bicentennial Cross Country Road Run! Under the direction of former Director of Athletics at Hartnell Ed Adams, this event will feature runners from high schools, junior colleges, universities and private clubs. They will leave Monterey from the Monterey County Fairgrounds at 9:00 a.m. and run to Hartnell College. Awards will be presented by Thomas J. King, chairman for

ROSIE'S CRACKER BARREL

BY BONNIE WELLER

Along with Thanksgiving, we feel it's an appropriate time to feature another time-honored tradition here in Carmel Valley. "Rosie's Cracker Barrel," a unique old-fashioned general store, has been in Robles Del Rio for 30 years. And the proprietor, William I. Henry -- better known as "Rosie" -- has grown into a living legend, even though he's just reached the accepted age of retirement.

As far as I know, Rosie has no plans for retirement, though. With Alex Olmstead as his right-hand man to help oversee the place, Rosie moves easily around his one-acre kingdom on Esquiline Road. Other than the general store, there is a service station next door -- and Rosie's cottage in the back.

If you continue up the road or pull into the parking area to the left, you'll see an impressive sign on the side of the weathered structure: Robles Del Rio Country Club. The first time I saw it, I did a double-take. What with the woodsy setting and picnic tables outside, I thought it was the genuine article.

"Some kids made that sign about ten years ago," Rosie said, with a fleeting smile. "They came and asked me if I cared for them making a sign.....That's what they came back with one day."

A big-framed man, Rosie has sandy-red hair, a ruddy face, and searching blue eyes which look directly at you when conversing. Now this is rather rare, especially when you know that Rosie sees only vague shapes.

In the snug little bar adjoining the general store, Rosie served two or three customers while we chatted. There was no hesitancy in his movements as he reached for glasses and poured beer. He fumbled casually among the agreeable clutter of framed cartoons and pictures behind and above the bar to find the ones he wanted to show me.

One of the caricatures was done by Virgil Partch, who is famous for his cartoons in TRUE Magazine and a Sunday comic-strip called "Big George." This one shows Rosie serving drinks, with an unperturbed air, even though a donkey is on the other side with a group of men. One of the men is holding the donkey's mouth open to show his teeth. "It's okay, Rosie," he says. "See, he's 21."

A little later, Rosie switched on a couple of lights in the dimly-lit bar so I could get a better look at the handsome wood-carving of a man (Rosie?) leaning on a barrel with "Rosie" inscribed on its side. The plaque is over two feet high and is beautifully carved from redwood. The artist is Stewart Fackinthrall, now a guard at Wills Fargo Restaurant.

And Rosie has that identical barrel, mellow with age, which has his name in bold brass letters on the side. There are nail-kegs, too, around the small table in the bar. The kegs have rope seats and handles. These treasures were made for Rosie by a retired attorney, Hayde Levy, in 1942. "He's up in Saratoga now," Rosie told me.

"The Post Office was opened around the last part of 1940," Rosie explained. "I had it here until 1949."

Back in 1942 (February 26), The Carmel Cymbal published

BOBBIE AND ROSIE in 1947. The wood-engraving in background was done by Stewart Fackinthrall. Inscription reads: "To Rosie & Bobbie -- May they always keep the Cracker Barrel the Valley's last frontier." - PARKER a column under the heading, "Over the Cracker Barrel at Rosie's." I thought you'd enjoy reading part of it.....

"We hear that:

"Things are kind of quiet up the Valley since December 5 and a lot of changes have taken place like the Chick Grosses moving up to Vallejo where Chick is working in the shipyards and Mark and Maud Wilmot going down to Arizona with a military construction company and Glen Halvern taking off for Pearl Harbor and Joe Steward and Steve, from Laurells, doing ditto, and Mary Lillibridge closing up her kennels to take in a job over at the Salinas Air Base and Paul Porter getting his wings over at Bakersfield, after his preliminary training in Portland, Ore.

"But anyhow, the Cracker Barrel still has crackers and Rosie still has his smile and everybody hopes he won't have to join up too soon, even if his number is pretty close to up-coming.

WILLIAM I. HENRY ("Rosie") and Virginia Smith ("Bobbie"), who was his assistant for many years. Bobbie weighs produce, while Rosie sorts mail back in 1945. "This is the only picture I have of the Post Office," Rosie says regretfully. Wood-carving above window, done by Stewart Fackinthrall still hangs in the General Store.

Rosie's number did come up, and he spent six weeks in the Army. That's when he discovered that something was wrong with his eyes. And he was honorably discharged. The problem is scar-tissue on the retina, with a gradual loss of sight over the past 30 years.

"There's nothing they can do," Rosie says, with just a touch of disappointment evident in his low and well-modulated voice. "It's sometimes embarrassing to go someplace where I'm not known... In Hawaii, I went into a restaurant and asked a couple at the next table to read a couple of things off the menu to me. They wondered why I didn't wear glasses... Well, glasses wouldn't help.

"People say you can't tell I'm almost blind," he continued. "For instance, if you went outside and came back in, I might say good afternoon -- not knowing who you were."

Alex joined us at the door between the store and bar. In answer to my question, he said, "I've been here four years, ever since I got out of the Post Office. I was on a rural route for 13 years, until my eyes went haywire..."

"You too," I said in surprise.

"Mine's different from Rosie's," Alex said, with a smile. He is a good-looking fellow, slim and pleasant. "I have double-vision -- but it's improved over the past two years. I used to wear an eye-patch so I could read easier -- but my sight's okay right now."

When Alex started work for Rosie, he took some razzing from his friends about "The blind leading the blind." It was in good-natured fun, of course. Alex has two daughters: Dolly, 16, attends Pacific Grove High School; and Shele, 18, goes to Humboldt State. His wife, Mrs. Dorothy Olmstead, works at the Bank of America in Carmel Valley.

Five years ago, on his Twenty-Fifth Anniversary in the Valley, two dozen business and professional people ran a two-page picture story in the OUTLOOK. "Happy Anniversary to 'Rosie'from All His Many Friends," the caption reads in the edition of July 29, 1964. The legend, framed in a box, says:

"Ordinarily one would not think of a man and a store as an institution. But William I. Henry ('Rosie') and his 'Cracker Barrel' were so fundamental to the development of Carmel Valley, especially the Robles Del Rio and Village areas, that they are all of that by now--bona fide if unofficial.

"A quarter of a century ago when Rosie first started his general store there were only a few scattered farms along the Valley floor between the Village and Highway One. Every morning, Rosie went to town (Carmel) and on the return trip made deliveries of milk, bread and mail along the way. (He was official postmaster from 1941 to 1949.)

"Rosie's back room beer bar served as community meeting place then and retains the same flavor of camaraderie today -- continuing, as ever, on a seven-day-a-week basis.

"May the next 25 years be as good as the first! Congratulations, Rosie!"

Rosie was born in Red Bluff, California, in 1904. "We moved down to Santa Clara Valley when I was a kid," he said. "I went to grammar school in Campbell. There wasn't much there then, and we went to San Jose to high school. The high school and normal school were on the same block..." Later Rosie worked for various oil companies.

"I came down to Carmel around 1926, and out to the Valley in 1939. When I came out here, there were just farm-houses...No one would deliver to me, so I had to go in town every day to pick up milk and eggs."

The bar was previously living quarters, Rosie explained. "I moved the bar fixtures in back to make room for the Post Office," he added. Originally, the front part of the building was a real-estate office built in 1927 by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Porter, Paul Porter's parents. The Porters purchased 600 acres and opened the Robles Del Rio area in 1926.

"Ellen Beth Frelson, from the old Murphy family, named the place 'Rosie's Cracker Barrel,'" said Rosie. "Her father was a doctor -- and -- her brother's an attorney in Salinas... I don't know where she is now."

Beyond the bar is a tiny sitting room with wicker chairs. Rosie motioned me to follow him. In one corner, he still has the first mail-boxes which were used in the old Post Office. The names appearing on those boxes are: Algrava, Anderson, Baldwin (Irene), Bridenbacker, Burton, Chase, Church, Conger, Fry, Harren, Koch, Martin, McIntosh, Roberts, Rose, Ruhl, Saunders, Shiply, Starret, Warboys, Weir, and Wolferman.

Later he took me over to the service station to see the later set of mail-boxes Mot Hitchcock had made up for Rosie in a manual-training class. There were 96 slots in that one, as I recall. "Of course, we didn't use them all," Rosie said.

In the bar, Rosie had shown me an oil portrait of Bob Ford -- another legendary figure of the Valley who is now deceased. There was a lingering sadness in Rosie's tone, as he talked of his dear friend.

Behind the counter in the general store, Rosie shuffled papers to find pictures he wanted me to see. Bob Ford is in many of them.

On the wall is a line of caricatures, drawn by some well-known cartoonists. There's one by Hank Ketchum, creator of "Dennis the Menace." The Ketchums once lived just beyond the entrance to Robles Del Rio down Carmel Valley Road. This cartoon shows Rosie's Cracker Barrel with Rosie, Bob Ford and another old-timer sitting out front on a bench. Dennis is pointing to the three men and calling back to his parents, "Bring your camera, Dad! Here's some real characters!" The clever cartoon appeared in all papers carrying Ketchum's strip. At the bottom, Ketchum wrote: "To good ol' Rosie with bestest regards, HANK."

Another cartoon done by Frank O'Neal (GORDO in the "Herald" and other papers) shows Rosie sitting on a bench. The drawing is in black-and-white, except for Rosie's hair in red and his face rosy. A man stands in front of him, saying "How come they call you Rosie, Rosie?"

There is another cartoon in the bar which Alex thinks is the best one of Rosie. "You can't really see him," Alex explained, taking me back to the bar. "George and Margaret Corrigan were here one night... You know, he works at the Post Office. Anyway, this incident really happened."

It seems that Marge and George were enjoying a beer, when they looked out the window at the end of the bar. Rosie's little abode is clearly visible from this vantage point. Up high on the right side of the doorway to the cottage is a piece of wood, which invites a certain species of birds. Well, the cartoon shows a woodpecker hammering away, and an arm reaching out the cracked door to retrieve -- of all things -- a roll of tissue which has tumbled down the front step... Guess whose arm? "Best picture of Rosie we've got," Alex said, with a merry chuckle.

Rosie now closes on Sunday afternoons. "He likes to go for a drive and have dinner out," Alex said. And I have it on the best authority (Jack Nielsen) that Harvey Deal, Norman Miller and Rosie go down to Gonzales occasionally to kick up their heels at an Italian restaurant there.

Next time you feel like a drive and need to pick up something, why not drop into Rosie's Cracker Barrel. It's a store of unique distinction and a great place to swap anecdotes. I'll bet Rosie would show you the dusty mailboxes, if you asked. And you know what, I don't think anyone could short-change him, even with his diminished eyesight.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

HAPPY THANKSGIVING FROM "Oaks 'n Cactus" Have never been able to sit down at a bountiful holiday table without remembering a yarn of an early Thanksgiving Day spun by the late Joe Hitchcock. Joe, a small boy, saw his father and another early Valley settler, William Hatton off to check on the cattle herds over toward Corral de Tierra. The critters belonged to the Pacific Land Improvement Company of which Mr. Hatton was then superintendent. They had left with the holiday dinner plans well underway so did not even pack a lunch thinking of the feast that awaited their return. When they reached the dividing line between the Iverson Ranch and the Los Laureles Ranch they found the fences down and the stock badly scattered. It was long after dark before fences were repaired, cattle rounded up and driven back, and they were able to ride home ... their Thanksgiving dinner had consisted of ACORNS ... a menu both men were to remember and laugh about for many years.

IF THE OAK TREES appear to be stripped this week it is because there were so many "Old Oak Leaf Clusters" to hand out to the people who contributed to the success of the Tularcitos Football program. A cooperative effort of both Coach Herbert Reuter from Tularcitos and Timothy Stephens, director of the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center ended with a Football Banquet on Saturday in the Tularcitos Multipurpose Room.

Mrs. Herbert Reuter was responsible for planning the event which served 85 players and the men who had assisted as referees. Each team was assigned a table with pennants for the eight teams, football place cards and miniature playing fields centering each table. The boys consumed quantities of hamburgers prepared by Mrs. Pearson Wilmot. "Elsie", the school's favorite culinary artist gave up her Saturday to cook for the boys.

The menu of hamburgers, potato chips, soft drinks, and cupcakes was contributed by the Community Center, who also gave each boy a pass to attend the matinee at the Community Center.

The "Trojans" were saluted as winners of the Big Ten Conference and the "Kindergarten Killers" were honored as victorious in the All American League.

A special 'cluster' to Bill Stowers, Jr. who has worked so faithfully with the boys and to the fathers who helped including Jack Taylor, Merrill Gayman, Raz Belleci, Charles Wesley, Charlie Gansel, Dick Gayman, Gordon Harlander, William Saunders, Jim Clark and many others. Mothers assisting Mrs. Reuter were Mmes. Andy Nottenkamper, Richard Bliss, Roger Sherman, Hap Thystrup, Charles Wesley, and Mildred Hattan.

Soccer season begins next week with after school sports and Saturday competition. The winning team of each Saturday game will be given free passes to the Community Center Matinee.

THE AMAZING FEATS performed by characters of American Folk Lore kept Carmel Valley Cub Scouts of Pack 76 intrigued during the month of November. Legends of mythical and not-so-mythical characters in our country's history that were handed down by generations past were researched by the boys who shared some of the knowledge each Den had gleaned at Wednesday night's pack meeting.

Following an impressive flag ceremony by Mrs. Leon Mink's Den 1, Mrs. Johnny Anderson and her boys from Den 2 presented a skit. Drawing from our American heritage, a major part of the Cub Scout program, they sailed on stage in the Mayflower dressed as our Pilgrim Fathers and were assisted by Indians with their first Thanksgiving feast.

Molly Pitcher, lived again as portrayed by Mrs. Richard Bliss, Den Mother of Den 4. (Johnny Appleseed, Buffalo Bill, the James boys, etc.) -- Each of the boys in costume of the folk lore character they had selected gave a thumb nail sketch of their hero.

The closing "Taps" was presented by Den 3 who with their assistant Den Mother, Mrs. Mildred Hattan, had prepared an exhibit of their written reports and the colorful covers decorated appropriately for their character. Among them were Paul Bunyan, Joaquin Murieta, Tiburcio Vasquez and Stormalong. Cub Master Don Draper presented awards to the following boys:

Bear Badge: Weegie Matthews and Jeff Mink.

Outdoor Award: Geoffrey Lee.

"OWL PROWL" is the intriguing name for an outing of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society held annually in Calera Canyon at the home of Mrs. Louise Hatton. The bird walk was followed by a picnic supper.

SPEAKING of the "nightwatchmen of Birdland" ... over at the Youth Science Center, Santa's helpers have the Center's Store redecorated and ready for the holiday. Volunteering their time to convert the alcove that formerly housed the owls-in-residence were John Wright, Al Young, Bob Mikkelsen and Bill Wells. After the paint had dried on the new shelves and the merchandise was all in place, Joan Wells hung her clever sign, "Owl's Roost" which is the newly chosen name for the shop. It contains a myriad of exciting nature and wildlife items (tumbled rocks, books, small critter bags, etc.) too such as rock tumblers, microscopes, animal traps, ect. The hours are 10:00 to 4:00 on Saturdays and after school on Tuesday and Friday by appointment. The owls, incidentally, are still residing at the Center and have been moved into the animal room.

GREEN the favorite color of Janice Cranston and her mother, was used in the decor at the recent party celebrating Janice's ninth birthday. Enjoying games and traditional birthday cake and ice cream were Jody Ricketts, Karen Kabat, Jennifer Ricketts, Laurie Vandervort, Bridget Hancpol, Jill Ricketts, and the honoree's brothers, Curt and Lew. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Cranston of Scarlett Road.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL ROHAN welcomed a daughter, Amy Joslin, at the Community Hospital. The baby girl was a month old on Thursday, November 20. Delighted (some of the time) with her baby sister who weighed 7 lbs. 6 oz. is 18-month old Kerry. The baby's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Giffen of Los Altos, spent two weeks in the Valley after Amy's arrival and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Rohan, came from Cupertino to get acquainted.

A WARM VALLEY WELCOME to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Seibert who will be spending their first Thanksgiving in their Valley home on Los Arobeles Drive. Both Mr. and Mrs. Seibert are Canadians by birth but have spent 20 years in California with a brief detour to the Virgin Islands where they planned to open a resort. The life in a tropic paradise, however, had been planned without considering the extreme heat and they returned to California (most recently Woodside) after a stay of six weeks. Other members of the family include Deborah, 15, Catherine, 13, Peggy, 8, and Joe Jr., 6.

HAVE YOU NOTICED that Mary and Nick Skalyo down at the Village Liquors have gone "Plum Crazy"? That innocuous remark was just to call attention to their car's shiny new paint job listed on the color chart by the manufacturer as "Plum Crazy!"

xxx

BUSY THANKSGIVING PREPARATIONS at the Laurel Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. A.F. Fitzgerald have all in readiness for the arrival of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Parker and daughters, Jeanelle, Laurie and Mary Ann of Hanford; their son Andy Fitzgerald, who is with Garret Air Research in Inglewood; Al Mason of Watsonville, and Michelle Havelka, formerly a next door neighbor who is attending college at Humboldt State in Arcata.

ADULTS ARE NOT faced with ALL of the problems of our modern day computerized world. Take for example the case of a special little girl in east Carmel Valley. Her doll house is well populated with the girls of that popular series of teenagers, their little sisters, and their fantastic wardrobes, labeled modestly by the company themselves as "swell!". However, there is not a single boy doll among them. She requested on her Christmas list the addition of "Ken", but specified that he must be from the earlier silent vintage, not the 1969 variety with a string in his back who parrots phrases about "proms", football games, etc." whenever the cord is pulled. When asked why, she replied, "Well what if I pulled his string and he said the wrong thing?" Her parents have contacted toy shops for miles around, but apparently the salesmen have recalled all of the "unstrung heroes" of toyland. Readers have helped solve problems almost this big before so if you have a child who has outgrown her doll and would like to sell it, please contact the "Phantom Oak Moth" 659-2468.

A LUNCHEON MEETING of the Community Center Auxiliary was held last week at York's on Cannery Row. Guest speakers were Laurel Drive residents, Winifred Howe and Alice Harwood, who represented the Monterey County Braille Transcribers, Inc.

THEIR SCORES did not indicate that the members of the High School Youth Group from the Carmel Valley Community Chapel would be sought by any captains of a league in the near future, but they did have a wonderful time at their bowling party on Saturday in Monterey. Attending with adviser Richard King were Cynthia Mauzey, Enid Rauber, Kathy Weller, Heidi Hattan, Kim Baker, Helena Bresk, Bob Beckstrom, Peter Mauzey, Ted Weller, Paul Bresk and Steve Pendlay. Their afternoon at the bowling lanes was followed by "dinner out" with hamburgers and milk shakes.

BESSIE WAYLETT'S candied sweet potatoes are always a dish requested on special occasions as a portion of the holiday dinner which she and Don will be sharing with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Betts in Salinas. Also joining the Valle Vista Drive family will be their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Betts.

xxx

SUSAN VORIS who is instructing the Swim Team program at the Community Pool which began last Saturday is a teacher of Social Studies at Carmel Middle School. She swam in competition during her eight years of high school and college and did assistant team coaching in Belmont. The program open to both boys and girls will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays from 4 to 5 and Saturdays at 11:00. Those participating will be instructed in strokes and encouraged to stay in condition for the summer program.

xxx

SGT. AND MRS. JOHN STUSEK with daughters, Jo Lynn and Jenny Lynn, welcomed Mrs. Stusek's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.V. Crumpley who arrived recently from Minnesota with plans to enjoy our Valley climate until March. Mr. and Mrs. Crumpley whose home is in Backus located on Four Point Lake learned that the temperature there last week was a sharp SIX degrees!

TULARCITOS PARENTS and children returned briefly to normalcy before being dismissed again on the 27th and 28th for Thanksgiving vacation. Grades 1 through 6 had been on an 8:30 to 12:20 schedule from November 14 through the 24th for Parent-Teacher conferences.

Carmelo School dispensed with the traditional Parent Conference Week this year. According to principal, Philip Smith, "Instead all parents will be contacted and conferences will be held throughout the year. This is being tried to eliminate excessive minimum days. Parents may also call the school office and request a conference at any time."

xxx

xxx

SAINTS-ON-WHEELS the youth group from St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church and Luther League, the youth group from St. Philips Lutheran Church, represented the Valley at the recent Ecumenical group party held in Carmel at the Church of the Wayfarer. Each group was invited to come dressed in the costume of another country and to bring potluck dishes which would be representative of their menus. The "Saints" selected Germany and contributed Knockwurst and German potato salad. Desserts were contributed by the St. Philips group whose beautifully embroidered costumes were loaned by Mrs. Gundberg Grinde of Scarlett Road and Mrs. Arne Kippenes of Carmel Knolls who owns the Scandanavian Restaurant in Carmel. Highlight of the evening was folk dancing taught by Al Daoud, an instructor from Arabia who teaches dancing at the Sunset Center. Other churches sending youth groups were All Saints Episcopal of Carmel, Carmel Presbyterian, Carmel Mission and Church of the Wayfarer.

xxx

REV. AND MRS. J. BERNHARD BRETHERM, their daughter and son, Joanne and Dann, and two representatives, Christine Ray and Paul Carlson, from the Christ Lutheran Church in Aptos will leave following the Thanksgiving morning services at the Valley's St. Philips Lutheran Church for Anaheim. There they will attend the Lutheran Youth Congress made up of 1400 young people with headquarters in the Disneyland Hotel. Lutherans from all of the major churches will attend the event which will take place from Thursday evening until Sunday a.m. The main speakers will be Dr. Conrad Thompson, Rev. Earling Wold and Rev. Nelson Trout. The young people will meet in both mass sessions and in small discussion groups. Saturday has been set aside for a tour of Disneyland and one day will be a special rally with 3,500 youths expected.

OH BOY! Woody Woodpecker 'n Donald Duck 'n Our Gang 'n Little Rascals 'n Pluto and animal pictures.....Yayyy! says Norey Zimmerman of Carmel in anticipation as Zoreeva Snow applies the final touches to the sign that will direct shoppers at Carmel Rancho Shopping Center, Hwy 1 at Carmel Valley Road. Show times are 11-12 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, with a special show on Friday, November 28 and Wednesday, December 24. All shows are supervised and will be held in the former Data Dynamics offices in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

Do you remember

One Year Ago:

"Miss Bianca and Mr. Bernard proudly announce the arrival of their first offspring....four to be exact....in the kindergarten suite of Tularcitos Elementary! Miss Bianca and Mr. Bernard are rats, named by the children for the hero and heroine of the book by Marjory Sharp, 'The Rescuers'."

Three Years Ago:

"An imaginative new animal is heading for Carmel and will be officially introduced Saturday, from 2-5 p.m., at an autograph party at the Magic Fishbone Bookstore. 'Tatsu, the Dragon,' is the subject of a new children's book, written by Mrs. Helen Mears of Hacienda Carmel.

"This is a first book for Mrs. Mears, who writes under the name, Helen Van Aken. Background for the fantasy, which involves a paper dragon who wishes to become a real fire breathing dragon, comes from many years she spent in Japan. After many adventures, Tatsu happily achieves his goal."

Six Years Ago:

"Josie Espinosa of Salinas was married to Dean Diaz, Jr., on November 9 at St. Mary's Church of the Nativity in Salinas. Dean is assistant manager of Plaza Linda, the new Mexican restaurant on Del Fino Place in Carmel Valley. The young couple will live in Salinas."

MRS. MEL BLEVINS and Don Harrison chat with artist Jean Wilsdon at Aardvark opening of her One-Woman Show.

Jean Wilsdon has gala opening at Aardvark

Last Friday night, the opening of Jean Wilsdon's One-Woman Show at the Aardvark in Bernadelli Square, Carmel Valley, was a huge success. Del Neel, owner of the gallery, and Donn Squire, curator, kept busy pouring wine and selling her paintings.

Well, I suppose they're called paintings. Jean's black-and-white portraits are done on layers of computer sheets. "I do them generally in black-and-white ink," she says, her blue eyes dancing merrily. "I go to every life class on the Peninsula -- and my kids pose for me."

There is nothing stereotyped about her art. Highly stylized, perhaps. I don't think anyone knows exactly what to call her style -- collage, assemblage, construction??? Not that it matters...

Her paintings are two- and three-dimensional constructions from which recognizable faces and figures emerge as cut-outs. This imaginative portraiture captures a particular mood -- pensiveness, loneliness, reflection, wistfulness, but not joy. I suppose that "meditative" best describes the over-all feeling.

Using a heavy background of cardboard, Jean says she cuts into it. The second layer is matboard. And she uses acrylics, spraying with a fixative.

Looking very pretty in red floral lounging pajamas and red blouse, her light-brown hair caught back with a red chiffon scarf, Jean explained that she first did black-and-white, then went into light colors. Her latest paintings are in deeper tones. "I can do one painting a week comfortably," she replied in answer to my question as to how long it took. She always sketches from life. Last week, she did three paintings "by working day and night."

"Golden Girl" was the painting I found most striking. A portrait in three-dimension, the girl's head held high -- the eyes most arresting. This one is done in orange, gold, and yellow. "Where Have All the Flowers Gone?" is a portrait of the artist's daughter; it is done in white, with only a thin red border outlining the cut-out portions. "Thinking" is a young boy, head resting in hands, as though he were mesmerized by television.

"Resting" is another one which is particularly outstanding. A nude, her back to the viewer, emerges from geometric designs as a naturalistic illusion. Jean used canvas in this one for the top layer. Warm tones of orange, gold and brown make this painting pleasantly esthetic.

Jean Wilsdon is the wife of Richard Wilsdon, a Carmel attorney and member of the CUSD Board of Trustees. Among the guests at the opening were several board members: Dr. and Mrs. Harris Taylor, Dr. and Mrs. Hilton Bialek, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Yorkovitch. Many Valleyites were also present: Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wilsey and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Graham, among others. The two rooms were so crowded, it was necessary to turn sideways and thread your way to another point.

The Wildson children were also present -- Diane, 8; Scott, 9; and Alex, 11. I had the pleasure of meeting Alex, who posed for the black-and-white portrait, "Wondering". When I suggested to him that children of artists and writers had to be understanding, he agreed. "We don't have dinner until 7:30 at night, because Mother has to put her paints away," he said.

Previously, Jean Wilsdon has exhibited at the Monterey County Fair, the USNPGS Religious Art Show, the Pacific Grove watercolor competition, and the Jazz Festival Art Show. In addition to her special technique on display at the Aardvark, Jean works in oils, watercolors, and pastels. Her exhibit will be at the Aardvark through December.

ROLLER SKATING PARTY at Aunt Clara's -- by Jerry Edlund.

AUNT CLARA'S Watermelon Patch -- by Jerry Edlund.

JERRY EDLUND'S UNUSUAL ART CAN BE SEEN IN VILLAGE

Aunt Clara was sort of long and lean and lanky which belied her greatest talent which was old fashioned full bodied Mid Western cooking down on the farm style. When she made a lemon meringue pie it WAS a meringue pie...standing a good eight inches tall, quivering and golden, with fresh lemons and freshly grated lemon peel to titillate those taste buds. She sat in an old hickory straight back chair on the front stoop and whipped up great Swedish Puddings in an even greater earthenware bowl with a wooden spoon. Her stuffed pork chops were a sight to behold and a never to be forgotten delight to remember all the rest of one's life. A little boy used to hang on the porch railing and watch her peeling apples or cracking nuts, or grinding the ice cream freezer, while the kitchen fragrances of sugar or molassas cookies filled the air.

This coming Monday afternoon Carmel Valley folks and many from the Monterey Peninsula area as well as Saratoga, and even Sausalito may gather at the Keeping Room to honor Jerry Edlund, the little boy who used to hang on the railing and watch his Aunt Clara going about her housewifely duties. Dru Dunn is showing a new collection of his beautifully antiquated oils of his Aunt Clara and all of her neighbors, harking back to Rock Island, where the kaleidoscope of boyhood memories found their beginnings. This group of whimsical, amusing, delightful little people, have the most captivating "primitive" feeling, great strength of character, and lovely dirty colors that belie their age. Jerry is a true master at evoking a great aura of nostalgia in all of us...Aunt Clara or no Aunt Clara...and probably accounts for the popularity of his paintings of this type. They are collected and no wonder. He lives and works and paints in the Carmel Valley Village with the Keeping Room now as his show case. Aunt Clara, her neighbors, Dru, Claudia, and Jennifer welcome you.

CHAPEL GUILD'S 'CHRISTMAS GALA' TO BE HELD DEC. 6

The public is cordially invited to select Christmas gifts and decorations on Saturday December 6 at the "Christmas Gala" sponsored by the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild.

The sale will take place at Fellowship Hall from 11 until 4. Cake and coffee will be served between those hours by girls from the Da-Kon-Ya-Yo-Hi Camp Fire Girl Group. The girls whose guardian is Mrs. Larry Busick will be working toward a citizenship honor bead.

Mrs. Irving Ollason in charge of the affair lists many items including jewelry, candle arrangements, Christmas stockings, ornaments and yule log carriers. In fact something for everyone on your list from baby's booties to golf club covers for Dad.

CARMELO SCHOOL PLANS 'EXTRAVAGANZA' AT SUNSET

The Christmas Extravaganza produced annually by Carmelo School have had such a large attendance of parents, relatives, and friends in years past that they have this year reserved Sunset Auditorium in Carmel. Mark your calendars for Tuesday, December 16 at 7:30 p.m. During this performance children will have an opportunity to see the handsome new band uniforms.

BY MRS. B.C. FORRESTER

To be thankful for good harvests has always been a characteristic of human beings. Usually this harvesting and thanksgiving was associated with a god or gods thought to be inherent in the crop itself. Death of the god and burial of the seed, rebirth and growth of the plant through power of the god to revive. In Athens the worship of Demeter and Persephone present one version of the belief. In Egypt, the worship of Isis and Osiris, center around the death and rebirth of living things. It is of interest to note how closely the lamentations of the Cherokee and other American Indians resemble the rituals of the ancient Egyptians at the time of planting the crops. Indian tribes in Eastern Brazil and in Northern British Columbia, follow similar ceremonies. The mourning which accompanies the planting, or "burial" of seed, and the rejoicing at the "rebirth" in the growth of the seed into the full grown plant ready for harvesting, seems to have been common to all peoples at one time of their development.

We find traces of this belief in ancient Hebrew lore. In Psalm 126 at the 5th verse, the Psalmist sings:

"Those who are sowing in tears, shall reap with shouts of joy."

"Sadly they bear seed to the field,
"Gladly they bear home the sheaves."

Today, in America, Thanksgiving has lost much of its religious significance, although services are held in churches and synagogues throughout the country. But to the vast majority it is strictly a family affair, when members scattered by marriage and business, gather together at a heavy feast. The table is laden with fruits of the farms, the game, the vegetables, the pastries, everything a prosperous year can provide, and sometimes this is recognized as a gift of God, and sometimes it is just another meal with the entire family. Certainly there is no feeling or thoughts or attempted explanation of the miracle of the growth of vegetation from tiny seeds. And perhaps it is just as well, or the modern mind might ascribe it to a new IBM machine which had come up with the right answer.

However, there is no longer mourning at the planting of crops, nor at their harvesting, and joy reigns usually at Thanksgiving. Now let's plan the meal. Suppose you want to serve:

Hot Consomme
Roast Turkey, Oyster Stuffing,
Giblet Gravy
Baked Squash, Creamed Cauliflower
Stuffed celery, Watermelon Pickles
Rolls and Butter
Cranberry Jelly Salad
Mince Pie - Coffee
Nuts - Mints

Turkey: Medium size, about 10 pounds. Singe the turkey. Remove pin feathers. Clean and scrub with mild soap and water. Rinse thoroughly. Dust inside and out with salt and pepper. Fill cavities with stuffing. Truss into shape, using white string to tie wings flat against the body, and the legs together. Then rub all over with equal parts of margarine and flour creamed together. Place on rack, breast side down, in a roasting pan, and roast in 450 degree oven for 20 minutes. When beginning to brown reduce the heat to 350 degrees F and roast 20 minutes to the pound. Baste occasionally with hot water and a little margarine. When half done turn the turkey breast side up. If it is getting too brown cover with foil.

Giblet Gravy
Clean heart, gizzard and liver. Place heart and gizzard in saucepan with stalk of celery, 2 peppercorns, tip of bay leaf, 1 small sliced onion. Add cold water to cover. Simmer until easily pierced with fork, about 2 hours. During last 15 minutes add liver, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Make gravy in dripping pan. Chop giblets and add to gravy.

Oyster Stuffing
4 cups finely diced celery 1/2 cup minced onion
2 cups boiling water 2 tsp. poultry seasoning
3/4 cup margarine 1 tbs. salt
1 1/3 cup drained, chopped oysters (save liquid) 1 tsp. pepper
4 quarts lightly packed day old bread crumbs
1/2 cup each celery and oyster liquid

Simmer celery in boiling water, covered, for 20 minutes or until tender. Drain, reserving 1/2 cup liquid to add to 1/2 cup oyster liquid. Cook onion in margarine over low heat, until tender but not brown. Combine crumbs and seasonings. Add celery and oysters. Then add celery-oyster liquid together with onion. Mix thoroughly with fork. Stuff crop and body cavity of turkey.

The baked squash and creamed cauliflower should present no difficulty to the most inexperienced cook.

Watermelon Pickles
1 1/2 quarts cubed watermelon rind (2 lbs.) 3 tbs. salt
3 quarts water 8 cups gran. sugar
1 pint cider vinegar 2 tbs. whole cloves
2 tbs. whole allspice 6 3" sticks cinnamon

Use rind from firm not overripe watermelon. Before measuring cut off green skin and pink flesh; cut rind in 1" cubes. Soak overnight in combined 1 quart water and salt. Drain. Cover with fresh water; cook until tender. Drain. Boil together 2 quarts water, sugar, vinegar, for 5 minutes. Add spices tied in cheesecloth bag. Add rind, and cook uncovered until transparent, about 45 minutes. Remove bag. Turn at once into clean, hot, sterilized preserve jars. Seal as jar manufacturer directs. Makes about 2 pints.

Cranberry Jelly Salad
4 cups cranberries 2 cups gran. sugar 2 cups boiling water

Pick over cranberries, wash. Place in saucepan with water. Boil until cranberries burst open, about 10 minutes. Pour into sieve. Mash through as much pulp as possible. Add sugar. Return to heat. Bring slowly to full rolling boil, stirring so all sugar is dissolved. Boil until mixtures falls in sheet from spoon, about 5 minutes. Pour at once into wet mold. Chill until set; unmold on platter garnished with water cress, cooked carrot strips or lettuce. Or arrange individual services in lettuce cups, sprinkling the lettuce with French dressing.

Public Hearing on Carmel Valley Zoning Law Dec. 15

The first public hearing on a new precise zoning plan for Carmel Valley will be held on Dec. 15, it was announced by Dr. Edw. Marcucci, chairman of the Monterey County Planning Commission.

A special committee has held five meetings during the past two months in drafting an ordinance defining the density allowable in Carmel Valley, as well as many other details.

The ordinance would replace a present Master Plan for the development of all types of construction in Carmel Valley, from Highway 1 east.

Dr. Marcucci said that there has been general agreement among all members of the committee in working out the proposed permanent ordinance, which would replace a temporary law enacted by the Board of Supervisors in August. One of the main features of the new law will be defining at what Valley level the 2½ acre minimum building site would be effective.

OTHER MATTERS

Approved a change of condition for Carmel Views Subdivision No. 2.

Set Dec. 17 for a hearing on "assemblages of people".

Approved the master plan for Hidden Hills North.

Booster Badges for Crosby available

Booster badges and season tickets are now available for the Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur golf tournament at Pebble Beach, to be held Jan. 19-25.

According to Dr. Ed Marcucci, Valley chairman, they can be purchased now at the Carmel Valley Golf & Country Club.

There is a big savings on both if they are purchased early.

CLUB MANAGER Ken Gardner, wearing an Alpine loden coat, speaks with Dr. and Mrs. Don Merz of Carmel Valley at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club Novemberfest.

A 'Novemberfest' in Carmel Valley

A Novemberfest patterned after the German Octoberfest celebration was held at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

The Octoberfest originated as a street carnival in celebration of a good harvest but Carmel Valley's Novemberfest was a German-style party inspired by the club's German matre d'hotel, Oscar Korn.

The club members played carnival games for bottles of wine, dined on German fare (der sauerbraten and der strudel) and danced the lively polka to the accompaniment of an "Oom-pah-pah" band.

Myron Jose tells Kiwanians about county road problems

At the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club held on Tuesdays at Rippling River Resort, members heard Myron Jose tell about the Monterey Road Department. A member of the Salinas Kiwanis Club, Jose is also Deputy Commissioner of the County Road Department. He told the group that the Department has a top certification of 231 personnel, with 200 being the average working force.

Eleven qualified engineers are included in this number. In addition to their responsibility for the maintenance of roads in the county, the engineers are in charge of the functions of the office of the County Surveyor. This phase involves reviewing and approving maps of streets, roads, and gutters in a new subdivisions before they are officially recorded.

Annually, Jose said, the Road Department presents a five-year plan to the Board of Supervisors. Road projects are followed as projected in this report. The Department also makes an annual report to the State Government on road efficiency. In the last report, 290 miles of road in the County were shown to be sub-standard. An expenditure of $24,700,000 would be required to bring these roads up to standard.

With 250,000 registered vehicles in the county, the condition of roads is rapidly changing. And the number of vehicles increases almost daily, not to mention the tourist traffic in the area. Citizens of the county do not always appreciate the problems involved in road projects and changes in traffic patterns. Carmel Valley is no exception.

At the close of the program, a period of silence was observed in memory of Don McKenzie, Jr., who died suddenly last week.

Cal-American

wins award

American Water Works Company, Inc. has been selected to receive a first-place award for having issued the most informative stockholder annual report of the investor-owned public water supply industry in the 1969 Annual Report Survey sponsored by Financial World, the nation's oldest business and financial weekly.

Dave Fiscus, division manager of California-American Water Company, which is a member of the American Water Works Company System, largest in the nation, said this is the third consecutive year American Water Works has won the award. It also won in 1962.

The bronze Oscar-of-Industry trophy symbolic of this achievement was presented to the company at the 25th Annual Report Awards Banquet in New York.

Approximately 5,000 annual reports were reviewed in 93 classifications this year in the annual competition to promote the improvement of shareowner financial statements.

Budding artists at Tularcitos

Students at Tularcitos School in Carmel Valley are fortunate in having Robert Skiles as their art teacher. Mr. Skiles, a resident of Big Sur, has been with the Tularcitos School for 14 or 15 years, since it was a district of its own. One day a week, he teaches at Captain Cooper in Big Sur and at Carmelo School in Carmel Valley.

All grades are included in Mr. Skiles' art classes. The students work with crayon, water colors, papier-mache, yarn, clay, paper collage, linoleum blocks, mosaics, soap-carving, etc. All mediums except oils and wood-carving are utilized. Each year, the art classes create Christmas decorations used at Tularcitos. And the students are permitted to work on individual projects of their choice, as well.

Fair Ladies' Christmas Tea

For the fifth consecutive year the Fair Ladies of Carmel are presenting their unique Christmas decorations and gifts to friends and their guests on December 3 at the home of Mrs. Stuart Symington Goode on North Hatton Road, Carmel.

The pink and red invitations are in the mail, which invite the ladies not only to purchase these gifts, but to enjoy coffee in the morning and tea in the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gabriel Burnette, which is directly across the street from Mrs. Goode's home on Hatton Road. There they may view the door prizes: a sure-to-be-an-heirloom embroidered Christmas wall hanging and a mosaic cathedral-glass triptych.

Many new items appear this year amid the dozen or more individually decorated and lighted Christmas trees suitable for apartment or gifts.

Among this talented group are artists with Carmel's native pods and cones made into wreaths, plaques and trees. Several new members this year have brought new ideas in Christmas table arrangements, candlesticks, wastebaskets, favors and numerous other gifts.

The great Noel sign will welcome guests from 10 to 4 o'clock -- the red carpet will be out and Christmas ribbons will fly at the gate.

FLAG FOOTBALL HIGHLIGHTS...

A battle for the league championship was waged last Saturday at Tularcitos School. The Raiders and Trojans were struggling for 1st place. The first half saw the two teams go scoreless. In the second half the Trojans broke the scoreless tie when Sternberg ran 10 yards for a T.D. In the 4th quarter, Trojan Ed Canadas intercepted a Lee Gayman pass and ran 40 yards to the Raider 2 yard line. The Raiders held on 4 downs but time ran out as the Trojans won 6-0. Jeff Canadas was a defensive standout for the Raiders.

The Fighting Irish scored the upset of the day as they downed the No-Names in the final seconds of play, 25-19. Behind 19-18 with 30 seconds to play, Bill Neidinger ran 62 yards from his own end zone for the winning tally. Earlier in the game, No Name Ricky Palmer scampered 30 yards for a T.D. Scott McKenzie threw the key block that enabled Palmer to score. Laurent Longfellow ran a kickoff back 45 yards for the Fighting Irish.

The Kindergarten Killers got by the Dirty Devils 6-0. Mike Saunders ran 30 yards for the lone touchdown. Jay, "Glue Fingers" Jones, snared 3 of Saunderson's passes during the contest. Rogan Hattan had several long runs for the Devils with great downfield blocks thrown by Steven Allard.

A safety enabled the Kindergarten Keydets to score a 2-0 victory over the winless Falcons. Jeff Mink was caught in his own end zone by Tim McCleary.

Half time entertainment was provided by All-League end from MPC, Bill Stowers and Katherine Belleci. Katherine, a talented young lady with a football, caught passes thrown by Bill which traveled over 60 yards in the air.

FINAL STANDINGS

"AND LET US CLING LIKE IVY . . ."

Is it not fitting that in this Thanksgiving season -- so reminiscent of our origins -- we should be mindful of our heritage and the trust it imposes on us? The price the Pilgrims paid for survival. The bloody feet at Valley Forge. The thunder at the Alamo, Gettysburg, the Argonne, at Midway, Bastogne, Pork Chop Hill, and DMZ.

Let us be grateful for our heritage, for a little pride is the wellspring of courage. Let us endure unflinchingly whatever sacrifices we are called upon to make to defend our free institutions from the night of communism, which is bent on undermining our faith in ourselves. Let us rely not only on the gold in our vaults, but on the iron in our blood. And let us cling like ivy to the faith of our fathers until, in God's good time, all men are free.

Savings & Loan Foundation, 1967

We find this message to be as appropriate today as it was when we first published it Thanksgiving, 1967. In the public interest, First Federal Savings will continue to print this message each Thanksgiving "until, in God's good time, all men are free."
